Welcome Pet!

Thank you for choosing a Modus Hotel during your stay in Washington, DC. We are delighted to have you!

For your protection, and the protection of our guests, we ask that you follow these guidelines:

- You must keep your leash on at all times when traveling around the property.
- Please don't stay in the room alone for long periods of time.
- Please have your owner notify the front desk when housekeeping can service your room—housekeeping will not service your room if you are alone.
- Per the Health Department you are not allowed inside the restaurant.
- There are plenty of doggy friendly parks and paths in the neighborhood. The front desk will be happy to provide instructions to your human friends.
- The front desk has toys and other pet-friendly accessories for your enjoyment!
- Be a star! Ask your human friend to post a photo of you around the hotel to our social media sites #moduslovespets

Modus loves pets and it is always our goal to ensure your happiness while with us, so please let us know what else we can do for you during your stay.

Here are some of the doggy friendly parks and paths that we recommend. The front desk will be happy to provide instructions and maps on how to get there.

Francis Dog Park (25th Street between M and N Street – West End)

Francis Field is a recreational field in the West End neighborhood. Dogs are always welcome and congregate especially during the after work hours. Please note, however, that the field is multi-purpose and occasional sports practice and games occur.

S Street Dog Park (S St at 17th St NW- North DuPont)

A dog-only park, S Street provides an enclosed area to play off-leash and provide a fun-filled time for both dogs and their owners! The cozy run is covered with antimicrobial turf to promote cleanliness and prevent digging, and a water fountain ensures adequate hydration. Benches positioned strategically around trees provide shady resting spots for owners who need a refreshing break.

Montrose Park (3000 R Street - Georgetown)

Though not strictly for dogs, it is a beautiful park that's favored heavily by locals as a hidden gem. A variety of areas, including a children's play place, picnic areas, and short trails, are tucked away so thoroughly that a simple stroll can remove you entirely from the sights and sounds of the city. The well-connected dog community permits dogs to run off-leash.

Rock Creek Parkway (along the Potomac River)

A favorite route to run or walk, the parkway provides a 1.5 mile distance along the Potomac River to the Lincoln Memorial. It is especially beautiful during the sunset hours.
